Wood the matter will be considered. Some of the union officials said they could not afford to establish the camp in any other county, as they have insisted all along that it was composed of Hopkins county men, whose presence would be objected to by other County Judges.

"It will be at Nortonville or nowhere," they said. If another camp is established there. Judge Hall will break it up without a day's delay. Gen. Murray will remain in Madisonville with the militia until he sees what is going to be done along these lines. But for a few days at least, it seems that Hopkins county will have a "breathing spell."

RIFLE BALL

Shot at a Sparrow Gives Dr. Rodman a Close Call.

Dr. James Rodman had a narrow escape from serious injury Saturday. While standing by a window in his home a small rifle ball came crashing through the glass, passing a hair's breadth close to him. Inves- tigation showed that the ball was the gun of a little boy living in the same square, who shot at an English sparrow.

Charity Auction a Success.

The Charity Auction given last Thursday night under the auspices of the As You Like It Club was a great success and about $70 was realized. The money was turned over to the Women's Charity Association. Messrs. Alfred H. McKles and Wallace Kelly were the auctioneers.

TAPPED A VOLCANO.

Strange Experience of Oil Drill- ers in California.

Struck a Warm Number 500 Feet From the Sur- face.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 19.—While drilling for oil in the great desert of Southern California known as the "Colorado Desert," an India oil company tapped what appeared to first sight to be the infernal regions, but which proved to be a slumber- ing volcano. The sleeping giant immediately awoke when the drill dropped into his fiery nest and the result was indeed startling to the drillers.

The drill had reached a depth of but 500 feet, and as it was expected that it would be necessary to go at least twice that depth to find oil, the workmen were not looking for a strike of any kind. It required ex- treme activity on their part to es- cape from the derrick when there came rushing up from the well a hissing, roaring stream of steam, gas, hot mud, rocks and brackish water. The volcano substances shot several hundred feet into the air and fell in a destructive shower about the derrick. The drilling tools were thrown from the hole and the aperture made by the drill was rapidly enlarged as the roaring torrent continued to rush skyward.

The Salt Desert.

Not many miles from this strange well is the locality known as the "Salt Desert." This is a tract of land of a thousand or more acres which lies 300 feet below the level of the sea and has the appearance of a vast field of snow. Over the entire tract lies a bed of salt vary- ing in depth from six to sixteen inches. Seventeen years ago the Liverpool Salt Company took pos- session of the land and began to harvest the salt from this exposed mine. There have been, since the establishment of the works there, 2,000 tons of salt per year taken from the field, and yet but ten acres have been worked. As fast as the salt is removed a new crust is formed from the water of salt springs there. The water is rapidly evapo- rated by the rays of the sun, which is seldom obscured by clouds and which induce a temperature often reaching 120 to 130 degrees. Should a volcano of considerable size and activity develop, this valu- able plant, together with the vil- lages of Salton, Indio, Walters, Durmid, Frink, Volcano Springs, Flowing Wells and Tortugo, all of which lie below the level of the sea, would be in danger of extermi- nation. The outcome of the volcanic well will be watched with a deal of interest and anxiety by the resi- dents of these towns.

ACREAGE LARGE.

Farmers Think Wheat Will Be Higher Next Year.

The acreage sown in wheat this fall in Christian county is very large. Farmers are of the opinion that this cereal will bring a good price next harvest on account of the very short crop of corn raised this year.

SEVEN CONTESTS

Growing Out of The Late Election in Todd.

Elkton, Ky., Nov. 23.—Seven con- tested and damage suits growing out of the late election were last evening docketed for the December term of the Todd Circuit Court. They are: Wilkins vs. Duffy, Coun- ty Judge; F. B. Gill vs. Mallory, County Attorney; Dickinson vs. Wood, County Clerk; Faughender vs. Griffin, Superintendent of Schools; Armstrong vs. Harn and Duvall vs. Henderson, Magistrate. M. V. Lyon, Republican nominee for Re- presentative, also files suit against County Clerk W. A. Dickinson for damages. Able counsel have been engaged on both sides. The litigation is sensational, and its progress is watched with much interest.

THE FLOATER FOUND

In Ohio River May Be Body of Clarksville Tailor.

The floater found in the Ohio river, two miles above Henderson, November 19th, is now believed to be the body of Frank Dahlgren, a tailor, who disappeared from Clarksville, Tenn., in October, says a special from Henderson. The body may be exhumed.

GARROTT-PENDLETON.

Christian County Farmer And Todd County Lady Marry.

Mr. B. O. Garrott, a prominent young farmer living near Kennedy, and Miss Louise Pendleton, daughter of Mr. J. R. Pendleton, of near Trenton, were married last Wed- nesday.

Elder H. D. Smith, of this city, performed the ceremony.

Repairing Neatly Done

Never thought of such a sign for a medicine did you? Well, it's a good sign for Scott's Emulsion. The body has to be repaired like other things and Scott's Emulsion is the medicine that does it.

These poor bodies wear out from worry, from over-work, from disease. They get thin and weak. Some of the new ones are not well made—and all of the old ones are racked from long usage.

Scott's Emulsion fixes all kinds. It does the work both inside and out. It makes soft bones hard, thin blood red, weak lungs strong, hollow places full. Only the best materials are used in the patching and the patches don't show through the new glow of health.

No one has to wait his turn. You can do it yourself—you and the bottle.

This picture represents the Trade Mark of Scott's Emulsion and is on the wrapper of every bottle. Send for free sample. SCOTT & BOWNE, 409 Pearl St. New York. 50c. and $1. all druggists.

AFTER GRADED SCHOOLS.

Trenton Makes a Move in Right Direction.

The people of Trenton have at last realized the need of a good graded school with ten-months' free session and a movement was started yesterday with the view of obtain- ing such a school in the near future, says the Trenton Democrat.

A committee is now at work pre- paring an estimate of what it would cost to maintain a graded school with five teachers; defining the boundary of the proposed new school district; and gathering such other information as may be neces- sary; and when this is completed, a meeting of all interested parties will be held to receive the report of the committee and take action.

RESOLUTIONS

Of Respect on the Death of Miss Irene Winfree.

Resolved that we the members of the Union Sunday School of Casky, Ky., do offer our heartfelt sym- pathy to the bereaved mother, brothers and sisters of our friend and co- laborer, Miss Irene Winfree, whom God in his infinite wisdom has taken from our midst and planted in Paradise.

Remedy for Colds.

W. Warren Robinson of Napa says: "Camphorated oil, inject- ed into the nostrils of fowls hav- ing slight colds, is an excellent remedy. It is well to keep con- stantly on hand the following mixture: Turpentine, kerosene and sweet oil, equal parts, in which put a few drops of carbolic acid. In this dissolve a quantity of camphor. There is nothing better.

cepts, not that we would throw all in one mess and feed to our sick fowls, but we can give them a little of all the medicine at the same time if so desired. Take May apple roots, and boil a handful in a gallon of water, in which add any kind of mill feed, and feed when cold, but see to it that your mess is not too wet or sloppy. You may boil the same roots twice if there is any strength left in them. The hens will eat the roots if mixed with the feed. As the roots are poi- son, keep away from other stock, and be sure you don't use the same vessel for family use. Sec- ond take white oak bark and put it in their drinking water. Third, get polk roots and put them in the drinking water. If left in the water long enough to get soft the hens will eat them. Fourth, try venetian red mixed in mill feed or put in water. It should be mixed dry with enough water to make a crumbling mess. All of the above receipts are good, and we fail to see why any hen should die with the cholera if noticed in time. No given rule is needed, just be your own judge, and you can soon tell if May apple water is strong enough, or if Venetian feed is red enough. We all know filth breeds disease, so be sure to have every nook and crook clean and sweet and good drinking water.—A. W. Gluesenkamp in Inland Poultry Journal.

UNIQUE BURGLAR ALARM.

Flashlight Photography for Exposing Criminals at Their Nefarious Work.

"I was reading in one of the recent magazines an interesting article on photography and its usefulness in the courts," said an observant citizen to a New Orleans Times-Democrat reporter, "and I notice that two of the banks in New York have rigged up an apparatus that will take the safe- blower's picture in a jiffy. Now, this is a great scheme. The very instant the safe door is tampered with a fuse flashes up and the picture of the safe- blower is left on the plate and he never knows how it happens. Only two banks, according to reports, have adopted the plan, but no doubt it will spread, and after awhile will come into general use as a thief catcher. It is simply the evolution of the rogues' gallery. But think of the limitless possibilities of photography along this line. After awhile the thief cannot enter any place without running into a flashlight and a plate, and he may not leave without leaving his likeness behind him. If he crawls into a window a fuse may flash up and leave his picture on the floor. If he forces a back door open a light may flare up in his face, and the police will call around next day and find out just who he is by looking at the plate in the door. If he raps the fellow over the head with a bludgeon on the high- way he may strike a fuse, the fire will flare up, and the result will be his im- mediate identification. In short, the world may in time become so filled with photographing apparatus that the thief will not stand much show, unless he is willing to take the chances of being caught, because of the fact that the picture he leaves behind will not only identify him, but will tell the story of how he committed the act. It may be offered in proof to convict him. But there is another thing in connection with the possi- bilities of photography. Pictures may tell tales on folks more honest than thieves, for they may be used to tell the little things which are best untold, and so the science, while affording protection against miscreants, may also become a miserable telltale."

DUKE'S DUMMY LIBRARY.

Books That Are Part of the Wall of His Sitting Room.

The duke of Devonshire possesses one of the most remarkable libraries in the country, and that at Chats- worth is reckoned to be one of the finest in the world. Some of the works are very valuable volumes, and bound in the most magnificent style, being even embellished with precious stones; and, to obviate the necessity for the words "Do not touch," they are protected by screens made of wire. But the duke's dummy library causes the most interest. All round his sitting-room may be seen books with the most amusing titles. The visitor who is not acquainted with the house often goes to take one and finds that they are part of the wall, and pure shams. Three or four centuries ago these dummy libraries were very common, but that of Chatsworth was always the best, and it is still in a per- fect condition.

The rows of books stand out in the most realistic way, and they are naturally productive of much mirth when they are seen for the first time. In one of the rooms there hangs on the door what appears at first sight a splendid violin and bow, and this is shown to tourists who are allowed to inspect the house.

This is also a dummy instrument, and is really part of the house decora- tion.—London Tit-Bits.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood. If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work. Pains, aches and rheu- matism come from ex- cess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney- poisoned blood through veins and arteries. It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their begin- ning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail. Home of Swamp-Root, free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

PRIZE WINNER

Is This Snake Story Teller of Texas.

"Rattlesnakes are grateful if you gain their affection," says a corres- pondent writing from Texas. "My brother 'Jim' found a six-foot rattler near town caught under a boulder, and instead of using his advantage he sympathetically released the snake, which thereupon became a pet and followed 'Jim' about and guarded him as watchfully as a dog. One night he was awakened, and missing the snake in its usual place at the foot of the bed, he knew something was wrong. He got up and lighted a match to inves- tigate, and found a burglar in the next room in the coils of the snake, which had its tail out of the window rattling for the police."

MELONS FOR CHRISTMAS.

Lime Coated Specimens Laid Away For This Accassion.

There are still a few watermel- ons on the local market, and now and then a sale is made. The melons now on sale are of a very late variety and on account of the drouth did not mature in early sea- son.

It is said that if melons are treat- ed to a thick coating of white-wash they will keep far into the winter, and an attempt will be made to preserve some fine specimens in this manner.
